A. Partea I: CITIT

Choose the correct answer a, b, c or d.

In most European countries pets are considered to be part of families. Parents would sooner keep pets in their houses than buy their children toys preventing them from thinking of forming independent personalities. Psychologists also suggest that children should have pets so that they can learn how to share. When compared with other children, a child who has a pet is more affectionate and helpful. However, some parents are not in favour of keeping pets in their houses due to the problems that animals may cause. I think parents who are against having pets should determine whether their comfort or their children's preferences makes their sons or daughters happier.

1. We learn from this text that:

- a. pets are good because they help people to think and learn;
- b. pets are beneficial to children's harmonious development;
- c. pets are members of families in all European countries;
- d. pets help children to form independent personalities.

2. Parents are reticent to keeping pets in their houses because:

- a. they cannot live in a house;
- b. they may cause different problems in their houses;
- c. they determine special preferences;
- d. they need special comfort.

Application for admission to the Graduate School at this university must be made on forms provided by the Director of Admissions. An applicant whose undergraduate work was done at another institution should request that two copies of undergraduate transcripts and degrees be sent directly to the Dean of the Graduate School. Both the application and the transcripts must be on file at least one month prior to the registration date, and must be accompanied by a non-refundable ten-dollar check or money order to cover the cost of processing the application.

3. What is the author's main point?

- a. how to apply to the Graduate School;
- b. how to register for graduate coursework;
- c. how to obtain an application form;
- d. how to make application for graduation.

4. Where would this passage most probably be found?
- in a newspaper;
 - in a travel brochure;
 - in a textbook;
 - in a university catalogue.
5. According to this passage, the documents are:
- accompanied by a check;
 - not obligatory;
 - handed in to the Dean of the Graduate School;
 - filed the day of registration.

The British Museum is a museum of human history and culture in London. Its collections, which number more than seven million objects, are among the largest and most comprehensive in the world and originate from all continents, illustrating the story of human culture from its beginnings to the present.

The British Museum was established in 1753, based on the collections of the physician and scientist Sir Hans Sloane. The museum first opened to the public on 15 January 1759 in Bloomsbury, on the site of the current museum building. Its expansion over the following two and a half centuries was a result of an expanding British colonial footprint and has resulted in the creation of several branch institutions, the first being the British Museum (Natural History) in November 1887. Until 1997, when the British Library moved to a new site, the British Museum was unique in that it housed both a national museum of antiquities and a national library in the same building.

6. The objects housed by the British Museum come from:
- City of London;
 - the human history and culture;
 - the largest British collections;
 - all continents.
7. The British Museum was founded:
- 1887 in 1997;
 - on January 1759;
 - in November;
 - in 1753.
8. What did the British Museum house until 1997?
- the largest objects in the world;
 - scientific collections from London;
 - a national museum of antiquities and a national library;
 - personal antiquities and books.

Venice is a wonderful city to visit, and there's so much to see and do, hence preparation is the key to having an enjoyable and successful time in Venice. If you come to Venice unprepared you are going to waste time, so hopefully these practical tips on visiting Venice will get your holiday off to a great start.

Situated in the north of Italy, Venice is easy to get to from the rest of Europe and the world, whether you are coming by air or by water. The 117 islands are connected by 455 bridges including famous ones like the Bridge of Sighs and Rialto Bridge. Venice's streets were not designed for vehicles and so the city is just a pedestrian zone. This means the only ways to get around Venice are on foot or by canal.

9. What happens if tourists omit to prepare their visit of Venice?
- they are going to have a memorable time;
 - they risk wasting their time;
 - they are going to receive unpractical tips;
 - they will have a great start.
10. How can international tourists reach Venice?
- by plane or by ship;
 - on foot or by canal;
 - crossing 117 bridges;
 - in personal cars or motorcycles.
11. People usually walk in Venice because:

- a. the streets were constructed for pedestrians;
- b. they want to enjoy the buildings;
- c. the streets are intersected by bridges;
- d. they want to avoid busy canals.

The Globe Theater was a Theater in London associated with William Shakespeare. It was built in 1599 by Shakespeare's playing company, and was destroyed by fire on 29 June 1613, during a performance of Henry the Eighth. According to one of the few surviving documents of the event, no one was hurt except a man whose burning breeches were put out with a bottle of ale.

A second Globe Theater was built on the same site by June 1614 and closed by the Puritans in 1642, like all the other Theaters in London.
